Young Foresters Spend Week Holliday Lake

APPOMATTOX, June 29—Among the 95 boys who attended the nineteenth annual Virginia Forestry training Camp last week at Holliday Lake were: Mack Coleman, Jr., of Rt. 2, Appomattox; Ronald Harris, of Rt. 4, Appomattox; Carroll Mann, of Spout Spring; and Miller Morris, of Rt. 3, Appomattox.

The camp was conducted by the Virginia Division of Forestry sponsored by Southern Pulpwood Conservation Association. The all-expense paid forestry camp is financed by the following member companies of the association in Virginia: The Chesapeake Corp. of Virginia, West Point; Continental Can Co., Inc., Hopewell The Glatfelter Pulp Wood Co., Fredricksburg; The Mead Corporation, Lynchburg; Owens-Illinois, Big Island; Union Bag - Camp Paper Corp. Franklin; and West Virginia Pulp & Paper, Covington, Va.

According to camp director, E. E. Rodger, Chief of Forestry Relations, Virginia Division of Forestry, the boys put through a rugged five-day mixture of work and play. Under the guidance of foresters from the sponsoring paper companies and the Va. Division of Forestry, these future landowners of tomorrow received intensive training in some of the basic phases of forestry. Courses include tree identification, timber harvesting, fire control, cruising, game management, area surveying, and reforestation. Included also are opportunities for participation in swimming, softball, horseshoes, volleyball and other recreational activities.

McCann Defeated; GOP Taps R. A. May For Senate Race

For the first time since 1946, Virginia Republicans have nominated a candidate to run against Senator Byrd for the U. S. Senate.

The GOP nominee tapped by a state committee session meeting Saturday in Richmond is Richard A. May of Saluda, 68, retired business executive who operates a 200 acre cattle plantation.

May took the nomination by acclamation after winning a majority vote on the third ballot in his race with Frank M. McCann, 37, Appomattox native, now a Lynchburg attorney.

On the first ballot, May and McCann had 15 votes each and 24 committee members abstained earlier. 55 members answered the roll call.

McCann then urged the committee to nominate May. The second ballot showed 22 for May 8 for McCann and 24 abstentions.

The third ballot gave May an unofficial count of 34 votes — more than a majority— and a motion to make it unanimous quickly carried.

USDA Announces Flue Cured Loan Rates For 1964 Crop

The U.S. Department of Agriculture today announced the schedule of loan rates by grades for 1964 crop flue-cured tobacco. The loan rates reflect an average price support level of 57.2 cents per pound, the mandatory support level for flue-cured tobacco announced by the Secretary Jan. 15, 1964. This support level represents an increase of 1 percent over the 1963 crop.

For the 1963 crop, grade standards and grade price supports were substantially revised to more adequately reflect current standards for usability and desirability demanded by the market as recommended by the National Tobacco Industry Advisory Committee. As a result of experience gained from grade application during the past season and as substantiated by discussions with the Advisory Committee, some further modifications have been made to the standards.

Increases in grade price supports have been made in such manner as to maintain increased price support on the more desirable tobacco with appropriate differentials for support on low quality tobacco. As in the past year, immature, tight and slick grades of tobacco will be supported from 12 to 14 cents per pound lower than for corresponding grades of mature tobacco.

The 1964 price support schedules have been established so that a farmer who produces a quality crop equal to the average of the recent 10-year crops is assured price support of 57.2 cents per pound. Department officials emphasize the fact that under the loan program, the grade of tobacco and the resulting price support level will depend on the quality of tobacco marketed. The responsibility for producing mature, full-bodied, grainy tobacco which are desired by domestic and foreign users rests with each grower.

As in past years, growers will offer their tobacco at auction markets in the usual manner and price support will be made available through the Flue-Cured Tobacco Cooperative Stabilization Corporation to farmers who comply with their farm acreage allotments. As in past years, tobacco identified as "discount variety" tobacco will be supported at one-half of the support rates for comparable grades of other varieties.

The Department also announced that the experimental program of limited price supports on untied tobacco of lugs, primings, and nondescript grades thereof in the traditional tied area will be continued during the first 7 sale days in 1964. Price support will be displayed separately on warehouse floors and untied tobacco will be graded first during the first 7 days of sales. Price supports on tied tobacco will be 6 cents per pound higher than for untied tobacco for each grade.

Additional copies of the rate schedule may be obtained from the Policy and Program Appraisal Division, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, USDA, Washington, D.C. 20 250.

Flue-cured tobacco is grown in Alabama, Florida, Georgia, North Carolina, South Carolina, and Virginia.

'Appomattox Heritage, Inc.'

Area Board Elected For Outdoor Drama

William C. Vaughan, mayor of Lynchburg, and a native of Prince Edward County, has been elected president of Appomattox Heritage, Incorporated.

The corporation, outgrowth of the RAD Centennial Committee's investigation of a permanent program to commemorate historic events of this area, held its organizational meeting Thursday afternoon, June 25, at the Parkway Motel, Appomattox.

Other officers elected are Dr. John A. Mathews, vice president; Mrs. Emily H. Burke, secretary, and James A. Smith, treasurer, all of Appomattox.

Additional members of the Executive Board are J. J. Andrews, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, Lynchburg; Robert C. Hailey, head of the Drama Dept., Lynchburg College; John C. Steck, chairman Farmville Chamber of Commerce, Centennial Committee; managing editor, Farmville Herald and county supervisor, Prince Edward County; and John Spencer, clerk Buckingham County.

The new corporation voted to hire D. Gordon Graham, sound- and light expert from Wilton, Connecticut, to come to Appomattox on a monthly basis as consultant. He will be asked to prepare a feasibility report for presentation to the National Park Service and to begin promotional work.

The National Park service must give approval before the corporation can use the park grounds for the drama.

Present for the corporation's organizational meeting in addition to officers already named were: Charles S. Marshall, assistant to the Regional Director, National Park Service; Grover E. Steele, superintendent, Appomattox Court House National Historical Park; Lawrence H. McWane, executive vice president, Lynchburg Chamber of Commerce; plus the following corporation directors: Richard Goach, Raymond H. Williamson, Allen W. Harvey, Mrs. Goode Robinson, all of Lynchburg; plus Mrs. Martha R. Simpson, of Appomattox, acting as temporary secretary for the organizational meeting.

Special Committee Named

A committee was named to work with the Executive Board to set up meeting dates for Gordon Graham's stay in Appomattox: J. J. Andrews, Mrs. Goode Robinson, Richard Gooch, all of Lynchburg; also John Spencer, Buckingham. As the plan was outlined, Graham would speak about "Sound-Light" drama, explaining to civic groups and others this new method for depicting events of Appomattox.

Sound and light is an outdoor program staged without on-the-scene actors and actresses. The show is recorded on tape, using voices of top performers. Loudspeakers broadcast the narrative and sounds of action to the audience.

Simultaneously, light beams illuminate the proper scenes. The intent of a sound-and-light spectacle is to give its viewers a sense of involvemnt with history.

When the project is carried out here, it will become the third such program to be staged in the United States. The others are at St. Augustine, Florida, and Independence Hall, Philadelphia.

Ring Bells Sat. Independence Day

All Churches in this area are asked to ring their church bells at 2 p.m. to mark Independence Day.

In 1963 Congress passed a Resolution that proclaimed bells as part of Independence Day, a revival of a custom begun many years ago which terminated when Civil War days arrived and the sound of guns took over Independence Day bells.

Ring the Bells! Proclaim Liberty throughout the land.

VEPCO Given Safety Award

George Abbitt Named Judge Of Fifth Judicial Circuit

Commonwealth's Attorney Since 1948; Former Board Chairman

George F. Abbitt, Jr., 57, of Appomattox, was appointed Judge of the Fifth Judicial Circuit of Virginia, late Friday afternoon by Governor Albertis S. Harrison.

Abbitt, who is a brother of Fourth District Congressman Watkins M. Abbitt, has been commonwealth's attorney of Appomattox since he succeeded his brother in that position in 1948. He was appointed at that time by the late Judge Joel W. Flood, whom he now follows as the circuit judge.

The vacancy in the circuit judgeship occurred April 27, when Judge Flood died after an illness of several months. The interim appointment was made by the governor and is effective until 30 days after the next General Assembly session, when as customary, formal election of the new judge will take place. Judge Flood's term was to have expired Feb. 1, 1970.

Abbitt received the judicial nod over County Judge William P. Hay, Jr., or Prince Edward County. Delegations in behalf of both candidates appeared before Governor Harrison, prior to his decision.

Abbitt is a graduate of Appomattox High School and holds a law degree from the University of Richmond. He entered private practice in 1931 in his hometown and has been there since.

He served as chairman of the Appomattox board of supervisors from 1942 to 1948. He had been appointed to the board by the late Judge Flood. Abbitt is a member of Liberty Baptist Church and has been a deacon there for 20 years. He is a past president of the Appomattox Lions Club, a director of the Farmers' National Bank and has served as Appomattox town attorney.

His wife is the former Josephine Cundiff, of Altavista, and they have two daughters, Penny, 21, a senior at Mary Baldwin College, and Nancy Jane, 15.

As the new circuit judge, it will be Abbitt's job to appoint his successor as Commonwealth's Attorney. There are only two other lawyers in the county (not counting Watkins M. Abbitt). One of those is County Judge Charles F. P. Crawley, who has not expressed any interest in leaving his present position. The other is Harry Gordon Lawson, who is in private practice.

Abbitt said the appointment of a new commonwealth's attorney would probably be made next week.

GEORGE F. ABBITT, JR.
